Composition of the ATLAS Collaboration

Saturday, 6 August 2016 09:14 (12 minutes)

The ATLAS collaboration consists of about 5,000 members from 178 institutes in 38 countries. About half of the members of the collaboration are scientific authors of the papers, and there are about 1,200 students on the collaboration. This note presents data showing aspects of the composition of the collaboration. In particular the relative fraction of women is described at several levels in the hierarchy of the ATLAS experiment.
