

Contribution ID: 11

Type: Lightning talk (5 min + 2 min QA)

Just an anecdote

Wednesday, December 8, 2021 11:50 AM (7 minutes)

Last week I was in a conference centre in the NL with a wifi network that blocked ssh and smtp (!). I could read mails but not send any. To get home on the same day I needed to fill the Dutch covid form. It's required to have it filled on your phone at all times. It's editable pdf, but editing doesn't work on my phone. So I filled it on my laptop and cernbox-ed it to my phone. Thanks, CERNbox app. You saved me.*

- actually not really as predictably nobody checked the form. ** I now realise I could have used webmail. That never occurs to me under stress.

Primary author: KOPPENBURG, Patrick (Nikhef National institute for subatomic physics (NL))

Presenter: KOPPENBURG, Patrick (Nikhef National institute for subatomic physics (NL))

Session Classification: Privacy

Track Classification: Main session