

All,

We are organizing another ADC retreat like the one we had at BNL at the end of March. This event will be hosted by our Naples colleagues and will take place from 2-4 February 2011. The idea is again to make a Plan of Work with a longer look forward than we are used to for the ADC meetings or the S&C workshops. The participation must be limited because of the venue and because discussion becomes difficult if the group is too big. We have therefore made an initial list of names and if you receive this email you are on this list. Could you please reply to me if you intend to come or not.

The venue is in the centre of Naples on the waterfront and there are plenty hotels nearby. The cost will be in the order of 150-170 Euro pp for the 3 days and that includes coffee twice a day and lunch. We will start on Wednesday morning and end Friday afternoon in time to go the airport for the evening flights. Napoli is well connected by regular companies but there are also many charter flights because it is a well known vacation destination. Easyjet has a service between Geneva and Naples on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

An Indico page: <http://indico.cern.ch/conferenceDisplay.py?confId=111538> has been set up that will soon contain more information.
