

Contribution ID: 279

Type: Talk (preferred)

Axion phenomenology in magnetized neutron stars

Friday, 16 December 2022 09:45 (15 minutes)

The expectation value of the axion field in neutron stars becomes large due to finite density corrections. By comparing our magneto-thermal simulations with available neutron star data, we find new observable effects to constrain the axion parameter space.

Primary author: Dr ANZUINI, Filippo (Monash University)

Co-authors: Prof. PONS, José A. (Universitat d'Alacant); Mr GÓMEZ-BAÑÓN, Antonio (Universitat d'Alacant); Prof. LASKY, Paul D. (Monash University); Dr BIANCHINI, Federico (Stanford University); Prof. MELATOS, Andrew (The University of Melbourne)

Presenter: Dr ANZUINI, Filippo (Monash University)

Session Classification: AIP: Group for Astroparticle Physics / Astronomy

Track Classification: AIP Congress: AIP: Group for Astroparticle Physics