Mentoring

Mentoring and its benefits

For a mentee, the benefits of having a mentor include access to support, feedback and resources and being given a fresh/different perspective. Goals can often be achieved quicker and a good mentor can also identify new skills and help to inspire, motivate and increase confidence or self-esteem and provide a platform of accountability. Mentoring can improve the mentees ability to resolve challenges.

For a mentor mentoring can be a hugely gratifying experience, where satisfaction is derived from empowering the mentee with positive outcomes. The passing of knowledge is a great way of giving something back to others. Mentoring provides a real opportunity to make a difference to the success of others. It also provides the mentor with an opportunity to learn.

Discover CERN Alumna, Pratibha Vikas' personal experience of mentoring shares her experience of mentoring in this short video.
