CEvNS school

The nation-wide strike on Monday March 27th is heavily affecting the public transportation. This is relevant for the school participant who have to travel to Garching from the city center on Monday morning (and eventually back to Munich in the evening). Please fill out the shared document and indicate your hotel location. This helps us to organize alternative travel options for you.

The CEvNS-Neutrino School will be held from March 27 - 29, 2023, at the Technical University of Munich, aimed at student and postdoctoral researchers working on experimental and theoretical low-energy neutrino physics. The goal is to gain a profound understanding of neutrino physics, especially CEvNS, neutrino sources, different detector concepts, and backgrounds. No pre-knowledge is needed for participation. The program will be divided into two parts; lectures and hands-on projects.
