

Pure frequency-based dispersive spectroscopy

We explore applicability of several variations of pure frequency-based spectroscopic techniques to molecular systems and their metrology. In these techniques we take advantage from linear phenom-enon well-known as mode pushing in an optical cavity with an absorbing medium and intrinsic physical connection between absorption and dispersion. It was demonstrated that mode frequency shifts measurements allow to obtain molecular spectra with exceptional accuracy and precision.

Primary author: CIURYŁO, Roman (Institute of Physics, Faculty of Physics, Astronomy and Informatics, Nicolaus Copernicus University in Toruń)

Co-authors: CYGAN, Agata (Institute of Physics, Faculty of Physics, Astronomy and Informatics, Nicolaus Copernicus University in Toruń); BIELSKA, Katarzyna (Institute of Physics, Faculty of Physics, Astronomy and Informatics, Nicolaus Copernicus University in Toruń); CHARCZUN, Dominik (Institute of Physics, Faculty of Physics, Astronomy and Informatics, Nicolaus Copernicus University in Toruń); KOWZAN, Grzegorz (Institute of Physics, Faculty of Physics, Astronomy and Informatics, Nicolaus Copernicus University in Toruń); NISHIYAMA, Akiko (National Metrology Institute of Japan (NMIJ), National Institute of Advanced Industrial Science and Technology); WCISŁO, Piotr (Institute of Physics, Faculty of Physics, Astronomy and Informatics, Nicolaus Copernicus University in Toruń); WÓJTIEWICZ, Szymon (Institute of Physics, Faculty of Physics, Astronomy and Informatics, Nicolaus Copernicus University in Toruń); ZABOROWSKI, Mikołaj (Institute of Physics, Faculty of Physics, Astronomy and Informatics, Nicolaus Copernicus University in Toruń); MASŁOWSKI, Piotr (Institute of Physics, Faculty of Physics, Astronomy and Informatics, Nicolaus Copernicus University in Toruń); LISAK, Daniel (Institute of Physics, Faculty of Physics, Astronomy and Informatics, Nicolaus Copernicus University in Toruń); FLEISHER, Adam J. (Chemical Sciences Division, National Institute of Standards and Technology); GILLIS, Keith A. (Sensor Science Division, National Institute of Standards and Technology); HODGES, Joseph T. (Chemical Sciences Division, National Institute of Standards and Technology); VOUMARD, Thibault (Deutsches Elektronen-Synchrotron DESY); WILDI, Thibault (Deutsches Elektronen-Synchrotron DESY); HERR, Tobias (Physics Department, Universität Hamburg UHH); BRASCH, Victor (CSEM - Swiss Center for Electronics and Microtechnology)

Presenter: CIURYŁO, Roman (Institute of Physics, Faculty of Physics, Astronomy and Informatics, Nicolaus Copernicus University in Toruń)

Track Classification: Precision and Quantum Metrology with Atoms, Photons and Phonons