

Daily News Wednesday 5th June

Programme

Plenary sessions:

9:00–10:30

Electroweak

and 16:00 – 18:00

QCD, Heavy Ions, BSM
(Blackman Auditorium)

Parallel Sessions:

11:00–12:30

BSM-1TeV Scale:

BSM1+BSM2+Performance
(ISEC Room 136)

Flavor Physics: Heavy Flavor
(ISEC Dana 114)

Heavy Ion Physycs: Small System
(ISEC Room 142)

Higgs Physics: Higgs
(ISEC Room 102)

Top Physics
(ISEC Room 138)

Upgrades
(ISEC Room 140)

14:00-15:30

BSM-1TeV Scale: BSM1+Top
(ISEC Room 102)

Flavor Physics: Flavor + QCD
(ISEC Room 140)

Future Projects:

BSM2+Upgeade+Future
(ISEC Room 138)

Heavy Ion Physycs: QGP properties
+ hadronization
(ISEC Room 142)

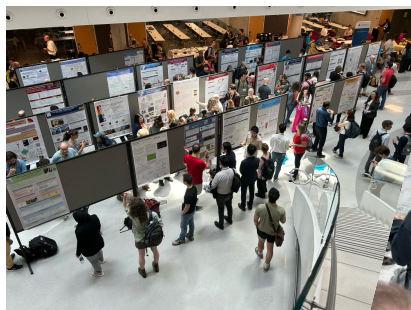

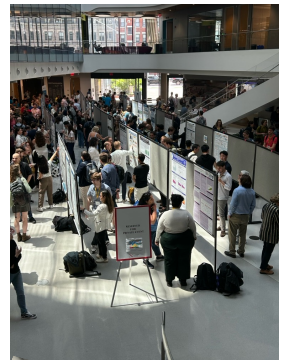

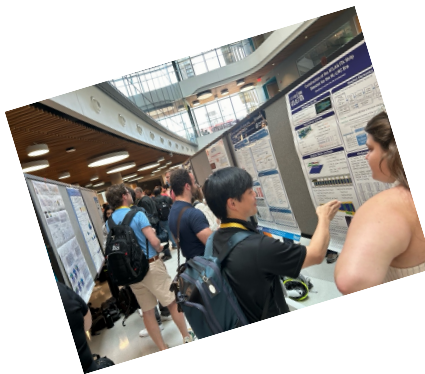

Outreach, Diversity and Education
(ISEC Room 136)

Today's Events

12:45 Conference photo in the atrium of ISEC

18:00-21:30 Conference Banquet at the Museum of Fine Arts. Please wear your badge for admission to the museum. Guests will have access to the Art of the Americas galleries and the Gund gallery.

Thank you to everyone who presented and participated in the poster session on Tuesday.

LHCP Boston 2024

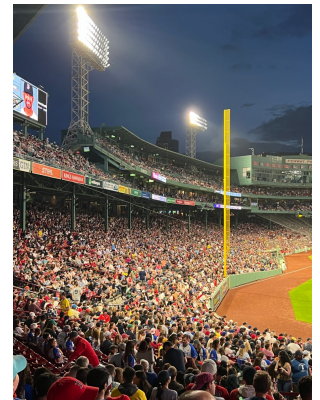

Atlanta
Braves

8 — 3

4 Jun • Final

Boston
Red Sox

Although the score was not in the Red Sox favour, it looks like the LHCP fans had fun. A huge thank you to the organisers especially Johan for making this event possible.

Closed-captioning can be accessed using the links at:

<https://indico.cern.ch/event/1253590/page/34262-closed-captioning>

Follow the conference on Twitter: <https://x.com/lhcphysics>

Did you know:

In Boston, it's illegal to snore at night with the windows open.

This is a legacy from the Puritans in Boston. After hailing from England and settling in the bay area in 1630, they created a wide variety of laws, some of which are still in place today.