Fascinating visit to @CERN to learn about it's groundbreaking work on particle physics - home of the Large Hadron Collider & where the World Wide Web was invented. Some very clever Aussies working there too.

Thank you so much to everyone involved!

And especially:

- * Filippo, Daniela and Francesco for allowing so many visits into the cryostats despite the ongoing work
- * Antonella and Elena for the help in organising all the big visits
- * Emanuele for taking over from me
