Navigating the way forward on International AI Governance

Monday 11 September 2023 09:30 (30 minutes)

Generative AI has accelerated calls for the establishment of an international regulatory framework for AI so as to exploit its full potential while protecting against what many see as existential risks. This framework consists of several differentiated dimensions necessitating the creation of new international organisations. While this may be an ideal solution, the nature of current AI development and the state of geopolitics makes this a very unlikely to happen anytime soon. Wyckoff proposes an interim Plan B.
