

Marek Cebecauer

J. Heyrovsky Institute of Physical Chemistry of the Czech Academy of Sciences, Prague, Czech Republic

Biography

Marek Cebecauer is a biochemist and immunologist at the Institute of Physical Chemistry of the Czech Academy of Sciences. He is an Open Science enthusiast, Research Data Alliance Ambassador for the Materials Sciences and Engineering domain, and the Chair of the Czech EOSC Materials Sciences and Engineering Working Group. He is the leader of the team responsible for the automation of (meta)data harvesting, which is part of the National Repository Platform and National Data Infrastructure in the Czech Republic. He actively participates in the work of several Task Forces, Working Groups and Opportunity Areas of EOSC and RDA focusing on practical aspects of FAIR data management and sharing.

“We use advanced materials and technologies to study the human immune system. We generate large amounts of highly complex data, which is a challenge for our daily work. It is essential to maximise the automation of research data management in order to avoid its negative impact on the quality of our research”.
