

Future collider machines: A review of positron source technologies

(Tentative): One of the key technical components driving the performance of proposed e+e- Higgs Factories is a positron source. Depending on requirements, different technology options exist. An overall review is presented for candidate technologies, status and R&D prospects.

Session Classification: Topics on Future Colliders: machine, physics and theory