

Contribution ID: 98

Type: talk

The Yakutsk array experiment: main results and future directions

Tuesday, February 14, 2012 9:50 AM (20 minutes)

The results of the Yakutsk array experiment aimed at investigations of ultra-high energy cosmic rays are presented. We outline the current status of the instrument and an outlook for future directions and areas of study.

Primary author: IVANOV, Anatoly (Shafer Institute for Cosmophysical Research & Aeronomy)

Presenter: IVANOV, Anatoly (Shafer Institute for Cosmophysical Research & Aeronomy)

Session Classification: Experimental challenges of UHECR