

Contribution ID: 178

Type: not specified

A theoretical review of the implications of recent OPERA results

Tuesday, March 27, 2012 4:48 PM (18 minutes)

We review the theoretical implications of the OPERA results, with particular emphasis on the consistency with other tests of special relativity (directly or through quantum effects in the charged lepton sector) and the difficulties in construction of models satisfying all constraints.

Primary author: SIBIRYAKOV, Sergey (Institute for Nuclear Research of RAS)

Presenter: SIBIRYAKOV, Sergey (Institute for Nuclear Research of RAS)

Session Classification: Electroweak and searches

Track Classification: Electroweak and searches