

An overview of some recent highlights from European Space Agency science missions (solar system and astronomy) is presented