

Manuel Lozano has PhD in Physics, is Research Professor at the Spanish Council for Scientific Research (CSIC) and works at the Microelectronics Center (IMB-CNM) in Barcelona (Spain). He is an expert in microelectronics technology and radiation detectors. He has extensive experience in leading working groups and R&D. He was the founder of the Radiation Detector Group at IMB-CNM. He is also co-founder of the Alibava Systems S.L. company.