

Kate Kahle began as a physicist before receiving an MSc in Science Communication at Imperial College London. She joined CERN in 2006 to communicate for CERN-led European projects after 5 years of editorial experience in the Pearson publishing group: Dorling Kindersley, Penguin Press and Longman Schools Science.

She became CERN social media manager and news editor of the CERN Courier in 2012. Kate currently manages CERN's presence on the social media platforms Twitter, Facebook, Google+ and YouTube.