

BULLETIN #3
28 April 2008

Dear HEPiX community,

We are pleased to announce that a preliminary version of the agenda, including titles, abstracts and speakers of presentations, is now available under <http://cern.ch/hepix2008>. Check the "Timetable" tag and select "Contribution" as detail level in order to see the whole program. Of course, some fine-tuning is still likely to be applied during this week, hence consider the program an indication of work in progress for the time being.

As you can see, the agenda is already pretty full, but if there are urgent requests for a slot or two, just let us know and we will see what we can do.

If you are interested to participate, but haven't registered yet, you are still very welcome to do so, even though the early registration fee no longer applies. And if you really hurry up, you may still be able to reserve a single room in the CERN hostel, but as of today there is no guarantee any more.

More practical information will be sent to registrants and speakers directly as appropriate.

For any problems, questions etc. you may have, you can contact the local organisers under hepix2008.org - at - cern.ch.

We are looking forward to meeting you at CERN in a week's time!

Best regards,
Helge Meinhard
