

Prisma Electronics SA introduces PrismaSense technology, which developed during the last 7 years, through national and European R&D projects. It is a modern wireless communication platform that employs sensors to monitor various situations/behaviors and controls to step in whenever it is necessary.

PrismaSense currently is being used in Maritime, Industry, Building management, Education and Safety applications.

Architecture, components and functionality is going to be presented, together with examples from Industry and Maritime.