

This lecture will include a brief introduction to the Neutrino Physics, an historical reminder of the Neutrino already long history and will focus on both the Physics and Technological challenges that are in front of the new generation of Neutrino Large Instruments in project for the next decades.