

This lecture will review the main new trends on Silicon Photonics with the large scope expertise in the various aspects of the field as well as in the industrial related domain of the lecturer.