

"Global overview of operational parameters"

This paper gives a global overview of the machine and beam parameters most likely to be chosen for the LHC proton beam operation in 2015: beam energy, bunch spacing, optics and beta* reach, preferences for the mitigation of instabilities, etc. The peak instantaneous luminosity performance is sketched, both for a conservative scenario and for a pushed one.