

- Put contentious governance issue onto the back burner for now
  - Declare a limited time (1 year?) lightweight structure probably just consisting of a Temporary Management Board.
  - Initiate a consultation exercise over that period.
- Engage (at least) a few larger projects right now.
- Identify (at least) a few concrete bottom-ups things that can be achieved in  $< 1$  year - low hanging fruit that can demonstrate usefulness.
- Spend the first (part) year achieving:
  - some real results.
  - building credibility.
  - establishing an acceptable governance model.
