

Martin ROELFS

Martin is from Netherlands. He is doing a Master's Degree in Physics at the University of Groningen.

During his summer at CERN Martin has been working with the SMI group at CERN, and more specifically with the ASACUSA collaboration. The goal of their experiment is to measure the hyperfine splitting in anti-hydrogen to test for CPT violation.

After this internship his goal is to finally get some sleep and maybe finish his master's.