

Contribution ID: 80

Type: not specified

Introduction to Code_Aster

Monday 3 July 2006 11:00 (30 minutes)

Code_Aster is a simulation tool for mechanics developed over the past twenty years at Electricité de France Research and Development. In the year 2000, its home-brewed scripting language was replaced with Python. This talk will present the features of Code_Aster and the benefits gained by the use of Python.

Author: Mr AUBRY, ludovic (logilab)

Presenter: Mr AUBRY, ludovic (logilab)

Session Classification: Python in Science

Track Classification: Python in Science