

Contribution ID: 76

Type: not specified

Python Academy - Teaching Python in Germany

Wednesday, 5 July 2006 09:00 (30 minutes)

Python Academy is a teaching firm that specializes in Python and Python related topics. It offers courses for beginners, programmers in other languages and scientists. It also provides Python-Trainers the opportunity to teach at its training center in Leipzig, Germany.

Teaching languages are German and English.

Besides offering courses it hosts the Leipzig Python User Group at its monthly meetings. It is the leading organizer of a Python-Workshop in September of this year in Leipzig. Other activities include speeches at different occasions about Python and contributions to a translation of an English open source book into German.

Python Academy participated in initiative "Informatikjahr" (<http://www.informatikjahr.de/>) by the German Ministry for Education and Research with the slogan "Specialists as Programmers".

Experiences in combining teaching in the business sector and community activities will be presented. Python Academy is seeking collaboration with Python trainers that are interested in teaching their special Python topic in Germany.

Summary

Primary author: Dr MÜLLER, Mike (Python Academy)

Presenter: Dr MÜLLER, Mike (Python Academy)

Session Classification: Teaching

Track Classification: Teaching