

Open ML problems in High Energy Physics

Friday, 11 December 2015 11:10 (40 minutes)

Machine Learning tools have revolutionized data analysis in high-energy physics (HEP). But the problems posed by HEP are unique in many aspects, presenting novel challenges and requiring novel solutions. I will describe recent progress in tackling these open problems and describe current outstanding issues.

Presenter: WHITESON, Daniel (University of California Irvine (US))