

The consequences of poor vectorization

Wednesday 14 September 2016 16:20 (20 minutes)

This talk briefly discusses the vectorization problem and how it impacts scientific and engineering systems. A simple cost model of designing such system in context of different phases of software lifetime is considered. Finally a concept for scalable solution is presented.

Presenter: KARPINSKI, Przemyslaw (CERN)

Session Classification: Public session