

Theodore Tyrone Tomalty

I am from Montreal, Canada, where I've lived most of my life and now go to school at McGill University in the Honours Math and Physics program. At CERN I am working with the neutrino group but I have worked with the ATLAS group at McGill for two summers before coming here, doing simulations and analysis for the muon detectors that will be implemented in the 2018 upgrade.