

News on underground Sos-Enattos (Sardinia) site

The Regione Sardinia has established the funding of a realization of a pilot underground Laboratory in the Sos-Enattos mine, in the LULA municipality. This site has been received attention since last decade for its extremely low level of seismic noise as possible candidate for hosting the third generation gravitational wave interferometers, particularly ET. The project of the laboratory will be shown with a approximate timeline of realization.

Primary authors: Prof. CALLONI, Enrico (Università Federico II - Napoli); RICCI, Fulvio (Universita e INFN, Roma I (IT))

Presenter: Prof. CALLONI, Enrico (Università Federico II - Napoli)

Session Classification: Poster session