

How to get to the “Ecole de Physique” at University of Geneva

In downtown Geneva it is highly advisable to either use public transportation or walk.

Generally Google maps will tell you how to get there by searching for University of Geneva, Section de Physique, Quai Ansermet 24, Geneve.
(Be sure to indicate you want public transportation)

From CERN you find below as example a public transportation map at 8:11 arriving at 8:47.
Careful that details will change for different times.

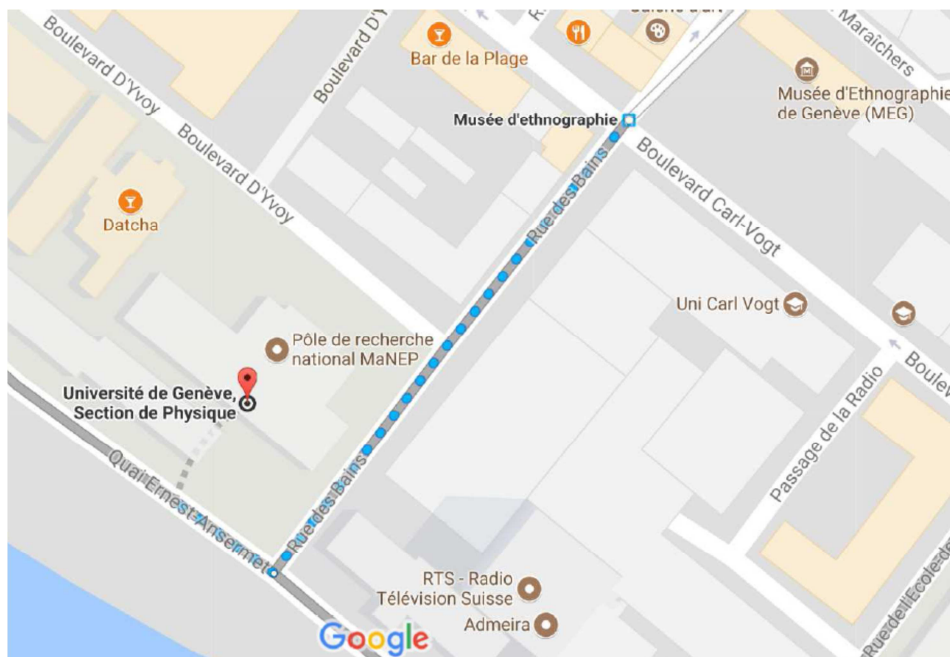

Take tram 18 from CERN direction Carouge

Stop at Place Bel Air and take bus number 2 (or walk to University directly)

If on bus 2 stop at Musée Ethnographique Genevois (MEG)

see below the local map and a photo of the Ecole de Physique

Walk towards the river (south west) on rue des Bains to the Quai Ansermet. Before arriving at the river the Ecole de physique (photo from 2009 enclosed) is on your right. (You can cut on the grass directly from Rue des bains). Enter the big heavy doors and the Auditorium Stückleberg is directly on your right at ground level.
