How to get to the Globe Theatre from QMUL

For those of you who reserved tickets the excursion will take place on Thursday with a trip to see Twelfth Night at Shakespeare's Globe Theatre. The performance starts at 2pm. A packed sandwich lunch will be waiting for us to collect at 1pm. The easiest way to get to the theatre is to walk to Mile End tube station and take the Central (red) line to St. Pauls. Exit the station and immediately behind you is St Paul's Cathedral. Walk around the cathedral and you will see the footpath heading south to the river. Cross the river on the Millennium Bridge with the Tate Modern Gallery in front of you. The Globe Theatre is immediately on the left of the gallery. This will take about 30mins from the university, so we advise leaving promptly. Use postcode SE1 9DT on google maps for the map location. Ulla and Eram will accompany the group showing the way.
