

I am Nicole Dolot, a Romanian Computer Science Bachelor's student at the Babeş-Bolyai University in Cluj-Napoca, Romania.

This summer at CERN I've been working in the LHCb department, on developing a mobile application which allows easier access to the LHCb logbooks.

After CERN I will defend my Bachelor's thesis and then I will retreat to my small hometown in the mountains, where I will be taking some time off for being with my family, reading, swimming, rowing and contemplating.

What really made this summer's experience really unique and tremendously enriching for me were definitely the passionate, bright, lovely people I met here, whom I will dearly miss.
