Event description:

Big deep tech startups - how do they do it?

Airplanes, metal 3D printing, and wearable health sensors all have to be produced by established companies. Or do they?

The examples above are all products of startups, and there exist plenty of examples of big deep tech startups like these. Join us for this entrepreneurship meet-up to hear a few examples, learn more about how to create new big deep tech startups, and discuss what it takes to succeed.
