

Where to eat

There are many options to eat close to the Planetarium. The Marquês de São Vicente Street, just outside the Planetarium entrance (see map below), offers a wide variety of restaurants of different styles and prices. Delírio Tropical, two blocks from the meeting venue, is mostly a salad bar, for fast and light meals. A few meters further is Shopping da Gávea, where you can find a large choice of restaurants, from fast food to more fancy (and pricy) ones.

Another option is to exit from the Planetarium back door towards Pontifícia Universidade Católica (PUC-Rio), which hosts a few restaurants. In particular, Sodexho, is recommended for those with a tighter budget. It offers meals for R$ 20, probably the cheapest around. Traditional meals include some animal protein (with vegetarian option), rice and beans, and salad (so called prato feito). Along the way to PUC-Rio there are also some food trucks which offer nonsophisticated fast food at reasonable prices.
