Attracted to NTU

First visited NTU in 2001 for a seminar

- After meeting Minzu in Moriond, he invited me to give a ZEUS talk. Minzu was a colleague of Allen Caldwell (my supervisor)
- Back then the group was publishing in BELLE and had many students producing nice results.
- It was a short visit that left an excellent impression.

I applied for a position in 2014. The factors:

- Big factor my family situation. Really a 50/50 decision.
- The group was very active in CMS with past and present hardware contributions, plus a number of analyses and good students.
- NTU is a leading University in the region.
- Possibility to start from scratch my own project (hopefully HGCAL) a definite plus. Connections with Higgs physics made it very attractive.
