

Contribution ID: 122

Type: not specified

Testing inflation with small-scale anisotropies

Thursday, December 16, 2021 3:15 PM (1h 20m)

Inflation predicts a stochastic background of gravitational waves. In this talk I will discuss how anisotropies in the gravitational wave energy density can be a powerful tool in characterizing the inflationary gravitational wave background and potentially distinguishing it from backgrounds due to other sources.

Presenter: DIMASTROGIOVANNI, Ema (Groningen U. and New South Wales U.)