Thanks to all the scientific contributors

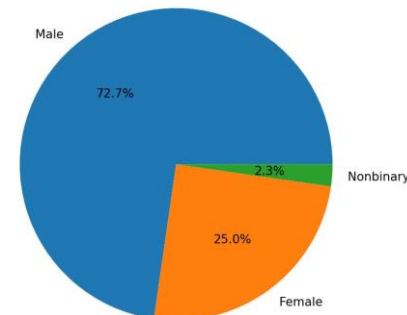

- Thanks for submitting your contribution to vCHEP2021
 - A different model, asking a full paper to be submitted (rather than an abstract)
 - This helped build a solid and diverse scientific program, though it created challenges for many (contributors, program committee, organisers, ..) it paid off
- We accepted 205 contributions (30 plenary, 175 parallel)
 - It was a pleasure to see many excellent presentations from early career colleagues
- We want to finalise the process and get the proceedings published ASAP
 - All papers received a 1st review by the referees
 - The deadline to submit a second draft is June 4th. We want to finalise by June 25th
 - 11 contributions were selected for publication in CSBS (Springer)

Thanks to the CHEP committees

- Thanks to the International Advisory Committee for helping us making many of the difficult choices for this peculiar vCHEP. And thanks for the Jobs@vCHEP initiative
- Thanks to the CERN Local Organizing Committee, for the work in preparing and running the conference
- Thanks to the Program Committee for managing and curating the scientific aspects of the conference.
 - A special thanks to the Program Committee Chairs (Benedikt, Catherine, Chiara, Stefan) for the help in the overall organisation
- Thanks to the CERN management, supporting the organisation of the conference (including the financial part)

Finally...

We hope you had a really great vCHEP!

On behalf of Team vCHEP: IAC, LOC and Full PC

We think the event has been a great success, even if we missed the usual opportunities to interact in person.

And for that, see you at CHEP2022 in Norfolk!
